Vision and Gary Clarke

In 1963, a young man by the name of Gary Clarke arrived in Topeka to become the Director of Gage Park Zoo. During his tenure, his love and compassion for wildlife and education inspired many. Through his ability to gather a sense of community support, the Topeka Zoo became the World Famous Topeka Zoo.

Gary dedicated 26 years as the Zoo Director. He retired as Director Emeritus in 1989 and remains active in the zoo industry as he continues to educate people about the natural world. We honor his legacy through raising funds for what he has dedicated many years to....
