

Call for Papers & Posters

The African Painted Dog is one of Africa's most endangered predators; it has experienced endless amounts of persecution, disease, and habitat loss and has seen its population dwindle to alarmingly low numbers. The goal of this conference is to bring together all people and institutions that are invested in the success of the African Painted Dog population both in professional care facilities and the wild. We hope that this will allow for a sharing of information and experiences that directly benefit the welfare and survival of this incredible species.

We invite researchers, keepers, caregivers, veterinarians and others to present papers or posters regarding all aspects of painted dog care and management, both in captivity and in the field. Papers and roundtable discussions will include the status of the dogs in the wild, field projects, captive husbandry, and veterinary care.
